

Earth Day: Eco-Friendly Products

Written by Written by Kavitha Sundralingam

Thursday, 22 April 2010 01:00 - Last Updated Tuesday, 20 April 2010 14:09

Embrace your sassy green style and celebrate Earth Day with these eco-friendly products for you and your home.

Sejaa Skincare Line

Your daily skincare routine is a significant part of your life. It is the foundation to removing makeup, and can sooth environmental-related stress by letting your skin breathe with the right ingredients. So why not treat your skin with a pure product like the Sejaa Pure Skincare Kit, designed by former Supermodel Gisele Bündchen? The limited edition three-pack includes a Day and Night cream with a mud mask, all made from natural plant ingredients. The kit also has a luxurious spa towel made from environmentally sustainable bamboo fibers. Indulge your skin with this natural bliss; it will thank you for it. 877.655.0387, www.sejaa.com

Envirosax Reusable Bags

Forget those hideous grocery shopping bags that have no character or style. Opt for a more vibrant way to go green with Envirosax shopping totes. These designer bags are strong, fashionable, waterproof and come in an array of energetic colors and designs including butterflies, botanical flowers, origami, retro and Japanese-inspired patterns to suit your personality. Be sure to check out the kids series as well. Now you can make a statement with the perfect alternative to plastic bags. 858.537.6525, www.envirosax.com

Saba Lounge Sofa

Talk about unique furniture! This fresh piece can transform a plain room into something chic. The retro sofa's features (like the slanted wood shape and artistic visual traits) exude an earthy ambiance wherever you choose to place it. The best part: The lounge sofa is made of eco-friendly materials and can be customized with luxury fabrics to meet your preference. Also, the lounge, made from Liana solid hard wood, is versatile enough to be used both inside and outdoors. 877.224.6663, www.inmod.com

Earth Day: Eco-Friendly Products

Written by Written by Kavitha Sundralingam

Thursday, 22 April 2010 01:00 - Last Updated Tuesday, 20 April 2010 14:09

2010 Lexus HS

Looking for a new ride that exudes luxuriousness and loves the environment? You are looking at the new 2010 Lexus HS. It's hard to believe that this sleek and sexy hybrid not only has top-notch technology but several green features as well. With 35 MPG and EV mode selection (electricity-only mode) with a touch of a button, you won't feel guilty taking more road trips. As sophisticated as the interior looks, no one would ever guess the upholstery is made from bioplastic plant materials. This luxury model is one step closer to saving the earth. 800.578.6808, www.scottsdalelexus.com