

Wine Accessories

Written by Story by Nichole Brophy

Tuesday, 06 April 2010 01:00 - Last Updated Wednesday, 31 March 2010 11:51

Wine is often thought of as an experience rather than a beverage. The following trinkets of the vino variety enhance the feelings associated with each spring sip.

Vinturi Tower

For full-bodied flavor, oenophiles covet the process of aeration. The Vinturi Tower holds the company's signature aerator in place as wine makes its breathtaking journey into the glass. $40. www.vinturi.com.

Paloma Picasso Groove Wine Bottle Holder

Just begging to be complimented, the Paloma Picasso Groove Wine Bottle Holder from Tiffany & Co. will be the star of conversation at any dinner party. The wine holder's graphic lines are accentuated by pure sterling silver. $995. www.tiffany.com.

Wine Pocket

The key to sustainability is reusability, and the Wine Pocket by Josh Jakus acts as a durable and stylish means of wine transportation for many sips to come. $25. www.joshjakus.com.

Riedel Black Tie Bliss Decanter

Red wine has a long-standing reputation as being beneficial for heart health. The Riedel Black Tie Bliss Decanter adds some art to this idea with a see-through heart adorning the center of this mouth-blown decanter. $195. www.riedel.com.

L'Atelier du Vin Circular Bottle Tags

Wine Accessories

Written by Story by Nichole Brophy

Tuesday, 06 April 2010 01:00 - Last Updated Wednesday, 31 March 2010 11:51

When you've got a stellar selection of vino at your fingertips, it can be hard to decide which bottle to enjoy and when. L'Atelier du Vin Circular Bottle Tags keep a wine closet organized by showcasing each vintage's optimal date of consumption. $34 for a set of 80 tags. www.iwawine.com.

William Yeoward Mediterine Wine Coaster

Acting as more than a guard against surface stains, the William Yeoward Mediterine Wine Coaster from Tiffany & Co. exudes oodles of sophistication through crystal etching with a whimsical sea creature pattern. $295. www.tiffany.com.