As the holiday season draws ever-closer, CHASSE Building Team once again demonstrated its commitment to the community with its fifth annual CHASSE-Giving event, bringing holiday joy to families across Arizona. While the event traditionally kicks off before Thanksgiving, the spirit of giving has now extended into the broader holiday season, highlighting the company's dedication to supporting those in need during this special time of year.

This year, more than 80 employees and partners came together to assemble over 2,200 holiday meal boxes, each filled with pumpkin pies, side dishes, and festive surprises. Since the program's inception in 2021, CHASSE has contributed nearly 10,000 meal boxes, distributing them through school districts across the southeast, west, and north valleys to ensure they reach families who need them most.

"Supporting families who need it most this time of year is at the heart of CHASSE-giving," said Taylor Perkins of CHASSE Building Team. "By working directly with school districts we connected these boxes with families who truly needed them. As a builder working across Arizona in the K-12 space, as well as parents ourselves, creating programs that ease the burden on students and their families is a privilege we take seriously."

In addition, the employee-owned general contractor has a longstanding record of philanthropy, supporting over 100 organizations statewide and contributing more than $4.5 million in fundraising, donations, and sponsorships. The company also collectively volunteers an average of 4,000 hours annually.

"At CHASSE, our work is about more than bricks and mortar," Perkins said. "We take pride in building projects that strengthen Arizona, but we are just as committed to uplifting the people who live here. This community is our home, and we feel a responsibility to invest our time, resources, and support into helping families thrive. When we work together, our impact becomes so much greater."

This year's expanded effort was made possible with support from long-time partners including Select Interiors, Stone Cold Masonry, S&H Steel, Sound Crete Concrete, Progressive Roofing, and others.
