Everything about The Spa at CopperWynd Resort and Club was like a deep breath of fresh air – from the mini road trip out to Fountain Hills with the windows rolled down and tunes blasting, to the mouthwatering complimentary coffee upon arrival, unforgettable views of luscious green grass, and soothing waiting room, complete with lounge chairs, fruit-infused water and purple dimmed lights. And that was just the beginning.

As I entered the club, it was clear the people inhabiting the space were regulars. Walking around as if in the comfort of their own home, the resort-goers dressed in clean, vibrant-colored workout gear, read the paper and gossiped and laughed with their friends, not forgetting, of course, to smile as they passed. Resort employees were plentiful and readily available to assist anyone with any concern.

The true “ahh” moment came, however, in The Spa. CopperWynd is now partnered with Luzern Laboratories, a top-notch skincare line that prides itself on clean ingredients that produce results.

To get the job done, Luzern products combine organic extracts from plants atop the Swiss Alps with pharmaceutical-grade cosmetic actives, not forgetting to remove any chemical preservatives, parabens, synthetics or other additives. The line includes everything necessary for a comprehensive daily routine: cleansers and exfoliants, toners, moisturizers, serums, sun protection, masks, professional treatment products and the signature oxygen facial, available at The Spa.

The oxygen facial application is similar to airbrush makeup application: the airbrush wand is filled with a Luzern serum and sprays out a mist of the serum and pressurized oxygen onto the skin, leaving the skin tone more plump, even and radiant. Unlike harsher facials, the oxygen facial leaves skin clear immediately preceding, making it the perfect last-minute skincare choice before special events.

Spa attendees can book a 60- or 90-minute package with no difference in the process other than more relaxation time. Be sure to come makeup-free, as the aesthetician will begin with a gentle Luzern cleanser, toner and exfoliator, if necessary, followed by a light massage and finally the oxygen facial.
