Kukui'ula is an uncommon community – a luxurious private club with an open Hawaiian heart. On 1,000 acres of joy overlooking the Pacific on Kauai'i's south shore, Kukui'ula is the islands' most significant new residential community in decades.

Kukui'ula has an 'old Hawai'i glamour and appeal coupled with a down-to-earth love of tradition, plantation-style architecture and food from the rich, red earth. Kukui'ula connects generations of families to one another and to the best of island life.

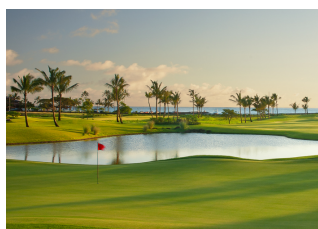

Our plantation style clubhouse is a centre of authentic family pleasures, from poolside lounging to play in the keiki (kids) and games room. Club dining is inspired by our Upcountry Farm, where members harvest fresh vegetables and tropical flowers, and kids catch and release fish from our 20-acre lake.

Kukui'ula's dramatic spa, with its 20-foot waterfall, is an experience in advanced well-being, with treatments from traditional lomi-lomi massage to of-the-moment therapies.

The 18-hole Tom Weiskopf golf course is postcard-perfect, spanning the width of our beautifully-landscaped hillside to provide countless ocean views and breathtaking play.

The Shops at Kukui'ula is a walking village of artful provisioners who offer curated decor pieces, jewelry and art, the latest surf and beach wear, and dining choices led by the pioneers of the Hawaiian local food movement. Our Island Pursuits team of resident adventurers will take your family to the hidden Kaua'i – the waterfalls, surf breaks and beaches where the unforgettable happens every day.
